Product Description:

The Cow Leg Belt is made in China and comes in two different colors: black and green. The belt can be freely disassembled and is designed to be matched with a pedometer. This allows farmers and ranchers to track their cows' steps and ensure that they are getting enough exercise throughout the day.

The package contents include one Cow Leg Belt, which is suitable for use on a cow's leg. The belt is easy to attach and is designed to stay securely in place, even during rigorous activity.

With the Cow Leg Belt, farmers and ranchers can easily monitor the activity levels of their cows and ensure that they are getting enough exercise. This can help to improve overall health and well-being, as well as increase milk production and overall productivity.

Overall, the Cow Leg Belt is a versatile and effective tool for farmers and ranchers who want to keep their cows healthy and active. Whether you are a small-time farmer or a large-scale rancher, this product can help you to keep track of your cows' movements and ensure that they are getting the exercise they need to thrive.
