Applications:

With a bottle body that comes with a hand, the Chuangpu Calf Nursing Bottle is easy to hold and use, making it ideal for farmers who need to feed their calves frequently. The bottle also features anti-colic technology that prevents the buildup of gas in the calf's stomach, ensuring a comfortable feeding experience for the animal.

The Chuangpu Calf Nursing Bottle also comes with a scale, allowing farmers to accurately measure the amount of milk they are feeding their calves. This is important as overfeeding or underfeeding can lead to health problems in young calves.

Whether you are a professional farmer or a hobbyist, the Chuangpu Calf Nursing Bottle is an essential tool for feeding young bovine or baby cattle. It is perfect for use in a variety of scenarios, including:

Feeding newborn calves who have been separated from their mothers

Providing supplemental feeding to calves who are not getting enough milk from their mothers

Feeding orphaned calves who do not have a mother to feed them

The Chuangpu Calf Nursing Bottle is a reliable and durable baby cattle feeder that can be used for years to come. Its anti-colic features and accurate scale make it a must-have for anyone who needs to feed young calves, and its easy-to-use design ensures that farmers can feed their animals quickly and efficiently.
