This tail clippers (castration tool) is specifically designed for performing tail amputation and castration operations on animals in livestock farming

This tail-clipping pliers (castration tool) needs to be used with a castration ring.

The tail ring is usually made of rubber and is used by placing it around the base of the livestock's tail to hinder blood circulation, causing the tail to gradually shrink and eventually fall off. This method is simple and effective, with no bleeding, fast healing, and good results.
